

Safeguarding Your Organization: Building Strong Financial Practices and Preventing Fraud

In this essential workshop, nonprofit leaders will gain practical knowledge to strengthen their organization's financial practices and prevent fraud. Designed for Board Members, Executive Directors, Treasurers, and Finance Committees, this session highlights the importance of proactive financial management to safeguard your organization's assets.

Participants will learn how to recognize the signs of financial mismanagement and embezzlement, develop effective internal controls, and ensure that key safeguards are in place to protect the organization's resources. We'll also explore common misconceptions about audits and discuss how to make the most of your financial oversight. This workshop will be...

- An opportunity to bring a new board member, or future treasurer, up to speed
- An opportunity to review and document best practices as a communication to donors
- A piece in succession planning for future Executive Directors or Finance directors

By the end of the session, you'll leave with actionable strategies and tools to improve your nonprofit's financial integrity, build trust with stakeholders, and prevent fraud from occurring within your organization. Join us to strengthen your organization's financial practices and secure its future.

The Cook Family Foundation feels strongly that all nonprofits should work to protect their assets and therefore have made this workshop a mandatory prerequisite to apply for any funds.
